

The Allison Inn & Spa Welcomes Pets & Their Parents

Jan. 12, 2010, Newberg, Oregon – Guests who seek a relaxing weekend getaway in wine country but wish their dogs could accompany them and receive the same pampering are in luck - the Willamette Valley's newest property, The Allison Inn & Spa, is now open and pet-friendly. The Allison invites furry friends to join their parents during their stay away and will welcome all members of the family enthusiastically.

When guests make a reservation that includes a pet stay, The Allison has special food and water dishes served from a wooden wine crate placed in Terrace-level guestrooms upon arrival. Water from the guestroom wet bars is filtered for pet-friendly drinking and a special treat created by the pet-loving chefs in the kitchen will be waiting in the room. In addition, the kitchen staff at JORY, The Allison's signature restaurant, can prepare a special, healthy meal for each pet so the parents are not the only ones enjoying the Oregon Wine Country cuisine. There is also a personal welcome note from Managing Director Pierre Zreik with guidelines for the dogs as to handling their parents while in residence. All Terrace rooms have patios so, weather permitting, pets can enjoy the fresh air and countryside while relaxing outdoors. If the weather doesn't cooperate, there is always a cozy spot in front of the in-room fireplace.

Special pet services include dog walking and sitting while patrons of The Allison partake in spa treatments, ensuring that guests can totally relax and indulge in the 15,000-square-foot spa with a fitness studio, swimming pool and Jacuzzi. Pets can indulge in a spa treatment, too: parents are given a letter with instructions for a pet massage that furry guests will love. The Spa also carries all-natural pet products from Cain & Able, including paw rub, shampoo and spritz and can recommend trail hikes.

If wine tasting and other Wine Country activities such as golf, horseback riding or hot air ballooning are of interest, guests can rest assured their pets will be comfortable and cared for at The Allison during their time off property or while wining and dining in JORY.

Prices for an overnight stay are $50 per pet stay, which includes all aforementioned pet amenities. Dog walking and sitting is $15 per hour. Advance notice is recommended if possible.
